odds and Ends.

A Vermout Yankee claims to have invented a self-propelling wheel, or perpetual motion. A correspondent of the Boston Journal thus describes it: It is a simple wheel, runs on gudgeous, and is independent of any outside spring, weight or power, as a propellor. On the same axle on which the metal wheel is fixed is a band wheel, on which a band runs over a small pulley that drives a small circular saw. It is the simplest thing in the world, but I cannot intelligibly describe it; but it is at once understood by the beholder. It will not, nay, cannot stop without a brake, as it is so fixed by means of balls and arms that the descending side of the wheel is perpetually farther from the center of motion than the ascend-

The greater portion of the capital of Alabama was purchased at a land sale at Miledgeville, Georgia, in 1817, by Judge Andrew Dexter, a native of Boston. He laid out a town, which was first call New Philadelphia, and donated the square upon which, twentyseven years afterwards, the state capitol was erected. The place was subsequently named in honor of Major Lennuel Purnell Montgomery, who had fallen in 1814, at the battle of the Horse Shoe.
